

Tasmanian Health Directory

What is it?

The Tasmanian Health Directory is Primary Health Tasmania's new online health directory designed specifically for all health professionals. It provides a one-stop-shop to find any private health care provider or health service anywhere in Tasmania.

The directory contains statewide listings of private health care providers, where they practise, how they can be contacted, and – in many cases – their special interests and exclusion criteria.

The listings are maintained by Primary Health Tasmania and include:

- general practitioners
- medical specialists
- allied health providers
- community pharmacies
- aged care facilities.

Who is it for?

The Tasmanian Health Directory is specifically designed to support health professionals and health organisations, enabling them to connect with other health professionals and services across Tasmania.

How can it help me and my patients?

- Need to contact your patient's general practitioner?
- Need a physiotherapist in your patient's local area?
- Need to find a specialist?
- Need the address of a local pharmacy?

All this information is available at your fingertips, helping you connect to the right health professionals in a timely manner.

"I had to look up a doctor's contact details the other day and straight away I noticed the new search function in the THD. I found the info I needed in only a couple of seconds. Keep up the great work!" - Quote from a north west-based specialist.

Where can I find it?

The Tasmanian Health Directory is available via Primary Health Tasmania's website at <http://www.primaryhealthtas.com.au/find-a-provider>

It is also available via all Department of Health and Human Services intranets.
